2021-2022 Season Outlook: When including unsanctioned games against other NCBA teams, the Bluejays went 11-3 this fall, beating two NCBA D1 teams in Nebraska (last year's World Series #1 seed) and Colorado. Our victory over the latter won us the inaugural Flint Hills Fall Classic tournament. Other victories in the first half of the season included those over Missouri S&T, Kansas, North Dakota State, Minnesota, and Wayne State. The three games lost were all by a single run, and our overall run differential was +37. Multiple starting pitchers have thrown complete games, our bullpen is both numerous and reliable, six of our starting nine hit .350 or above, and all defenders are consistent, agile, and can make spectacular plays. There's little doubt that this team is the deepest and most talented in the program's history. As such, our goal has become clear for the second half of the season: nothing less than becoming national champions will do, and we'll prove to the league that we belong in D1.

2021-2022 Season Outlook: We have a great group of returners and after an outstanding fall that saw us go 6-4-2 with no NCBA sanctioned games, we are looking to build off of that success. All of those wins except for one came against either NAIA or NCBA Division 1 teams so we believe we are ready to take the next step and continue to compete in a high level, no matter who we line up against.

Manager Quote: Our season will be defined by pitching and defense. If we throw strikes and make the routine plays, we will have a chance to beat anyone. Our mindset has to be that we are just as good as anyone we play against, and this fall, it was. After scoring 17 unanswered runs in a single game, it showed me that we have a "never say die," mentality and will be ready to play whoever, and whenever. I am extremely excited about this group and can't wait to see how much we improve as the season goes on.
