Players to Watch: Senior Torrey Bannan: In his 4th year of club baseball with the Wildcats, Torrey Bannan began his season with a scorching hot start at the plate. With a .500 average and 3 extra base hits in the first 6 games including 6 runs scored, Torrey has been lightning in a bottle out of the leadoff spot. The wildcats will need his offensive success to continue in the Spring.

Senior Noah Stingily: Noah Stiniglily will be an important player to watch for the wildcats on both sides of the ball this year. The wildcasts will need Noah to anchor the pitching staff, using his nasty submarine release to get batters out. The Wildcats will also be looking to Noah to provide some pop in the middle of the lineup, already with 5 RBIs in the fall.

Entire Freshmen Class: The wildcats will enter 2025 wth 7 talented new freshmen. They have already shown flashes both on the mound and in the batters box helping the wildcats take 2 games in the fall. If these freshmen can continue to not only improve their skills, but also their confidence, the Wildcats could have a strong core moving into the future.

Pittsburgh, PA 15212
Office: (412) 321-8440

Biggest Rival: University of Washinton Huskies

Best Player Nickname: Carston "The Freak" Mallory

2025 Spring Season Outlook: The Wildcats are looking to make a splash as they continue their first year in NCBA conference play this spring. With upcoming series against Washington State, University of Idaho, and Utah State the Wildcats are looking to shake up the standings in the Rocky Mountain North region and contend for a regional playoff birth.

Manager Quote: If we can develop the new freshmen to go along with our already talented upperclassmen, we can be dangerous late in the year. Already with wins over Montana and Eastern Washington early in the season we've shown that we have what it takes to beat good teams, we just need to be more consistent.
